"I have many of these varieties in small sized plants now ready for sale at reasonable prices. The rarer varieties and new importations have not yet been propagated. I have a good supply of camellia grafting stock three years old, and will especially graft any variety wanted, and grow it on for one year for the price of $7.50 for each graft; one-half to be paid by customer when grafting order is given, balance to be paid on receipt of plant by customer. All prices F. O. B., Avery Island, La." -- The term "Imb." used in the description means petals overlapping (shingled). All varieties have been proven true to name.

As only from two to five grafts can be taken from the rare imported varieties, orders will be booked in order received.

Besides this list, I have about 200 imported varieties mostly from China and Japan that will not be listed until 1937.
